

And the motive? Our primary aim is to explain the succession. Because there must be a succession, and if Abel is unable then it must raise Cain. But that's not right. Cain was not a usurper, that was Jacob. Rivalries. These are fascinating things. When everything is in balance, it's a whole self-contained world. The plants need the animals and the animals need the plants. Everything living in harmony under the surface. And then the big fish eats the little fish.
